This is NOT about "dirty energy", its me talking straight, direct and damn dirty about the energy stupidity in the USA. Steven Harris - Energy Expert, Founder of www.KnowledgePublications.com & www.USH2.com Dirty Energy ISSUE #2

Raped Women Rant When They Scream Rape.

Dirty Energy Newsletter Volume 2.

Let me clarify something for the fragile, politically correct minds out there who wrote me about this newsletter. You can stop crying now. I got OVERWHELMING support (thank you), but about one out of every ten responders said something like "read your rant", or "now that you've ranted..." How to clarify this to you?

If a woman is being bent over and rapped by a sexual criminal, if she's shouts "STOP, STOP! RAPE! HELP ME! STOP!!" is that a rant? If Byrd and Melissa Billings, the couple of 13 adopted children shot in their Florida home, shouted or screamed, "Get out! What are you doing? Please don't kill us, stop, stop!" Is that a rant? What part of being sick and tired of the stupidity of what is happening to us, i.e. the new laws and new energy policies, both proposed, and implemented, do you not understand?

We the People, the public, are being RAPED by the politician's laws and policies—especially in the energy field. One method that the incompetent use to take power over the competent is to move the competent to SILENCE by saying, "oh..that's not nice, you're being hateful," or "that's not politically correct."

The next method of silence placed on people is to call the protesting and aggressive dissertation (the screaming of rape) of the people a "rant". What I am writing is not a rant.

This is US telling YOU that WE are SICK and TIRED of YOUR SHIT and WE will be SILENT NO MORE. So take your words like 'rant' and shove it where the sun does not shine. If you don't then we'll do it for you and we'll see how you like it when your protests about the discomfort and violation are dismissed as rants. After all, would you want to offend the person raping you?

Historic note: for those of you who do not know or remember the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) and whole history of the epic fight for female equality though the 1900's, especially after 1945. It was hard in some places to get law enforcement to take the CRIME of female rape seriously. It was not viewed as the violent crime and violation that it is today (as it should be). Raped, beaten and bleeding women were told by law enforcement that it was their fault for being hurt so bad. They were told that they should not have resisted and that they should have just 'laid back and enjoyed it.' If that is shocking to you, it should be!

WE the Public are being told to 'lay back and enjoy it' now while we are being violated by the tidal wave of junk science and political stupidity.

I use some 'powerful metaphors' in this discussion. Let me be serious for a moment. If you are a female and you are being abused; end it. Tell someone, ask for help, leave, go to the police or any of the private aid agencies. If you know someone who is being abused then help her, now! It IS the business of all of us who can, to protect the innocent. Protect women, children and the innocent. Oh I'm sorry..was that a rant? National Domestic Violence Hotline www.ndvh.org 1-800-799-SAFE(7233)

If you are a citizen of the United States and you are being abused by your politicians and your energy and economic future is being stolen from you then BE SILENT NO MORE. Say STOP, TELL THEM STOP SCREAM STOP AT THE TOP OF YOU LUNGS. Get help, make help, ask for help. Help yourself or help others. Do NOT be silent because you will be raped and then you'll be told that it was your fault and that you should of just been quiet and that you should lay back and enjoy it. After all, they were passing the laws to help you.

The Story of Trying to Contact T. Boone Pickens.

Trying to Contact T. Boone Pickens.

I should have known better. I've been through the pain before and that was why I went independent (see Dirty Energy Volume 1). However, I felt compelled to try to reach the very charismatic and determined patriot, T. Boone Pickens. I should have known better, but not for the reasons you'd suspect.

You've heard of 6 degrees of separation? How we can all go through no more than 6 people and meet any person in the world (like the game, 6 degrees of Kevin Bacon). I thought I'd use my email list of some 60,000+ patrons to try to get in touch with T. Boone Pickens personally. Not just a cold phone call, but a nice introduction. So I put out an email asking who knows the man and I got some good responses.

It turns out that one of my customers and fans (thanks Mike) knew one of Pickens' children. He got me in touch with the son and we talked a bit. I signed a non-disclosure with him so we could talk about a few things that are Harris Confidential so he could screen me before I could talk to his old man (there's a pattern forming here).

After trading non-disclosures (NDAs) I talked with T. Boone Pickens' son for about an hour on the phone. We discussed some of the confidential gasification technology Roy and I have and we also discussed natural gas vehicles. I was told, "My father and I have worked on natural gas vehicles for almost 15 years and it just won't work with American vehicles because the timing on the engine must be changed and everything is now computerized." In the next 15 seconds I solved his 15 year old dilemma for him. I explained exactly how I can run natural gas with ANY vehicle in the USA with NO mechanical modification to the vehicle, other than adding a natural gas tank, and NO modification needed to be done to any part of the vehicle computer system. No code changes to the computer either. No OBDII changes etc... Give me a 2009 Cadillac and I can have it running on natural gas with no computer changes. He was floored, aghast and speechless all at once. I thought for sure I'd be a shoe in to get past the gate keeper and talk to his father.

How to summarize the rest of my experience with him in a short sentence??? What a WASTE of SPERM! He proceeded to tell me that I'd never ever want to work with his old man because his old man is ruthless and blah blah blah. Probably stuff he should of told his psychologist and not me. He did say that he'd see his father at Thanksgiving and he'd tell him about our conversation. Well, I never heard from him again. Never was able to contact him again by phone nor email. <poof> into thin air, or down the drain he went. Where else does sperm go?

I'm not one to give up easily. I got in touch with another old friend of T. Boone Pickens (we'll call this guy Ron). Ron knew the Goings on with both the father and the waste of sperm I talked with. We too did an NDA exchange and we talked a bit and he was most impressed and after an hour he told me the same thing. You do not want to deal with T. Boone Pickens, he's ruthless and blah blah blah. Sounded like crying over spilt milk to me. Well Ron went into the ether as well. No emails returned, no phone calls returned. I ended up leaving him a voice mail telling him that trust is like virginity, and he was definitely in the maternity ward.

Now do I think that either of these guys went off and stole any little bit of technology I talked to them about? No. Sperm can only think of one thing (finding an egg) and people in maternity wards are too busy giving birth to steal anything (heavy metaphor content here). I should have known better. I should have known better than to try and work with other people again to move forward. See, the thing that people could not understand was that I was bringing technology and solutions to T. Boone Pickens. I was not coming for 'money'. The man put forth 50 to 60 MILLION of his own money (this was when gas was $4.00 a gallon) to put forth a solution for America. Not the best solution, not a great solution, but a damn good one that was valid and would work. A solution that we could start to do TODAY with what we have TODAY. I wanted to contribute to the effort. Yes. I would have made money. T. Boone Pickens would have made money too but you would have had a solution for your gas tank by NOW. It would be something that you'd KNOW was coming out by a certain date rather than just be the technology porn vaporware you read about in popular science or popular mechanics.

I have no doubt that T. Boone Pickens is RUTHLESS in his work, job and business. It seems that every time you try to do something great, something big, something that takes imagination and talent, the more people you find that try to tear it down and try to tear you down. There's always one idiot in a meeting that tries to empower himself by standing up and saying, "NO.. you cannot do that.. I dont' like that...blah blah burp fart." Know what? I like ruthless. Ruthless keeps 75% of the idiots with torches and pitchforks that are coming for your Frankenstein (no sperm required) away from you. It's easy to make a Frankenstein. He's a bunch of bolts and nuts and some dead brains (easy to find in the American public or Congress). Hit Frank with a good jolt of electricity from lightning or a TASER and you might have something that grunts. Making Frank is easy. It's the idiot villagers with the pitchforks who never read iRobot that are the problem. People destroy and tear down what they do not understand and they do this most vehemently to something that they did not think of themselves (it's called Not Invented Here syndrome NIH I think).

So the point is T. Boone Pickens is ruthless or so I'm told. I understand that and I LIKE IT. I want to work with someone who is ruthless because I'm so sick and tired of having to slog through the shit that is the stupidity of the pussified whining crying idiots out there. Ruthless is good. I don't have enough heart beats in my life to do a 100% Dale Carnegie discussion about their feelings and sensitivities and whether or not they understand, like or approve of what I am doing. I have a mission, a reason for my life and part of it is a DAMN BIG Solar Field and a LOT OF ENERGY for the United States of America (not worthless solar photovoltaics). This is one hell of a big omelet I'm going to make, so I'm sure as hell going to break a bunch of eggs and I don't care how much the chickens protest.

I do hope to meet the man someday. I think there is a great synergy between our efforts. T. Boone Pickens has a LOT of contacts and experience. He might be ruthless, but he's got integrity. That's of much higher value to me than any amount of money. My technology works, I can make it work and it makes money from energy pretty quickly and if some of our stuff solves the problems someone else has, then that's just all the better.

Boone, I'll call you myself sometime in the near future, or you can contact me directly at support@knowledgepublications.com. Let's talk; we have a few Frankensteins to make. It'll be easier for us to do this soon because the villagers are going to be taking the pitchforks and torches after the politicians for a while.

RANDOM THOUGHTS

--If people spent as much time and money on bettering themselves, their children and helping others as they spent on yogurt, fiber and pills so they can be regular and take a crap at the same time each day; then we'd all be better and smarter.

-- In a future newsletter, I'll show how the world will use MORE oil, coal and natural gas in a pure solar hydrogen civilization than we do today. Yeah. MORE OIL, COAL and gas will be used in a world where we get our energy from Solar and transport it as Hydrogen.

We send these out as a .pdf so you can forward it. Please forward our newsletter !

Want to be the FIRST to get the Dirty Energy Newsletter? I publish it every time I get a chance to write, or something really stupid is in the news or I get really pissed. :)

Those Who Sell Poison Will Have to Drink it as Well.

If you are selling the poisoned "kool-aid" to everyone else, expect that sometime someone is going to open your throat and shove down it what you are selling.

If there is one set of commercials I HATE WORSE than the BP "idiot on the street" commercials its the Exxon Mobile Scientist commercials.

One commercial goes, "I've been working with algae for 35 years."

Really? You must suck at it because I don't see any great algae solutions with your name on it. You've had 35 years.

Another commercial goes, "We're working so that someday we can make hydrogen from gasoline for your car."

HELLO. You guys do it all day in your refineries. Its one of the fundamentals of the refining process for turning crude oil into the distillates that we use today. Its also VERY clearly documented in the 1919 book we sell called The Chemsistry and Manufacture of Hydrogen at www.USH2.com.

Now of course, the poisoned cool aid they sell at the end of every commercial is always something like, "and it absorbs CO2 so it'll help with the climate problem."

Here is a link to the Guardian UK news website. The british ASA (Advertising Standards Authority) BANNED the Exxon Mobile ad that talks about how they can liqify and transport natural gas and how clean and abundant natural gas is. <http://tinyurl.com/exxon2008>

Liquid Natural Gas (LNG) is good stuff. The idea is that you have an abundance of natural gas in an area that is remote, like on the Pacific coast of Russia or in the Artic or Antartic area. When there is no easy way to make a pipe line to move the gas to populated areas, you park a ship over the natural gas wells and the natural gas runs compressors, pumps and refrigeration units on the ship. The natural gas (which is methane CH4) is pressurized and cooled until the gas becomes a liquid. The Liquidified Natural Gas (LNG) is then shipped by special ship anywhere in the world.

The problem, and the funny part, is that Exxon Mobile has been silent on the real science of man made global warming. Much of industry has just gone along with the stupidity and thinking that the 'hype' will eventually go away.

Now they've helped create a monster and its bit them in the ass. They've been selling the poisoned junk science and now its been shoved down their throats.

The British government and the ASA banned the commercial because they say Natural Gas is not

'clean' because it forms CO2 when burned.

Everything on the damn planet made with a carbon atom makes CO2 when burned. If you were set on fire you'd make CO2.

Exxon Mobile said the fuel is among the cleanest forms of energy. I can tell you that it is. However the poison science says that CO2 is pollution and Exxon Mobile helped create the poison and they just had to swallow it. I'd use a different analogy of what happened to Exxon-Mobile but then this would be "The Really Dirty Energy Newsletter."

If Exxon Mobile actually reached down between their legs and found that they had balls they'd put THEIR EMPLOYEES on the rigs, on the platforms, the drillers, the guys working in the mud and oil on their face in their commercials. Put the people in the refineries that turn the nuts and keep the place going as well as the chemists, scientists and the engineers in the commercials. Wave the flag and talk about Americans and American Energy and the huge abundance we have... but no.. they'd rather sell the poisoned juice that the sky is falling to everyone else.

Natural gas is a HUGE part of our energy future. The methane hydrates on the ocean floor far exceed our "known" oil reserves by 4x, 5x, 10x or more. Roy and I can make Methane (Natural Gas) from solar energy. Its a big part of our energy future.
